Machin definitive stamps with security features – a checklist

A listing of stamps by value and type, with details of the Royal Mail products which produced each one, showing the more detailed numbering system used on our shop. Dates of issue or discovery, and dates of printing are shown where known. A new cross-reference table of the stamps based on the Stanley Gibbons 2016 Concise catalogue is also included. Latest version notes Gibbons' numbering of retail booklets with Security Backing Paper. Additions and amendments are highlighted with pink shading.

This edition includes the February 2017 Windsor Castle retail booklet and PSB stamps.

In any row, the symbol | indicates that the entry in the previous row applies to the current row.

Either the official issue date or the date first available at (eg) Stampex.
 OR
 § Earliest date reported

Royal Mail bureau ordering code.
 No guarantee which version would be supplied if more than one exists

Stanley Gibbons (SG) catalogue lists only with or without year code for each different source code

Norvic number unique for each year and some other variants, making future numbering predictable

SG Booklet numbers vary when cover or contents change but not year codes

For booklets, indicates why there was a new version sold by RM's bureau
 Dates are first recorded printing date for counter and business sheets, pack dates for booklets.

After May 2014 an order for Code UB333 could be supplied with 2011 2012 2013 or 2014 version.

Introduction

When year codes were discovered in the iridescent 'security' printing on Machin definitives we decided at an early stage that – as customers were asking for the different years – we would need a way to identify the stamps in our stock. A decimal system seemed the most logical.

Thus the 2009 2nd class sheet stamp is number 2911. The same stamp with MA10 year code is 2911.0, and that with year code M11L is 2911.1 and so on. The decimal number is applied according to the year code on the stamp, not the year of issue or discovery. This will last us until 2019! In our webshop some stamps are listed in categories for two different years: the year of the code, and the year of issue/discovery.

Sheet stamps and booklet stamps are generally listed separately and we followed that convention in our numbering. The suffix 'B' is added to the Counter Sheet number of the same value for Business Sheets. Suffixes 'S' and 'C' are added to the number for stamps from Booklets of 12, for Booklets of 6 and mixed content booklets respectively.

There are, admittedly, some inconsistencies, but I hope that readers will be able to follow the principles!

± Postage rates normally increase at the beginning of April, with stamps issued in the last week of March. The date of 27 March 2012 was always intended by Royal Mail to be the date when the Machin and Country definitives for new postage rates were issued. But delays in the regulator approving the increase meant the postponement of the official issue date of the Tariff Change stamps (FDC & Presentation Packs) to 25 April.

Supplies of the previous, gold, stamps were exhausted at PO Supplies Department at Swindon, and many Post Office branches had no supplies of Large stamps (other than the Jubilees) in any format. Consequently some branches put the stamps on sale at least by the dates shown above, and we added images to our blog well before the end of March. PO HQ issued instructions that the stamps were not to be used and that the Large rate should be made up in other ways. But despite Royal Mail's official date, PO HQ then instructed branches to put the stamps on sale on 27 March, and we produced FDCs for that date.

Official FDCs produced by Royal Mail Tallents House were dated 25 April and included the new tariff stamps.

Notes

1. LFOS = London Festival of Stamps. Booklet has an advert inside front cover and dark blue and white edge strip similar to mixed (PM series) books.
2. Gibbons booklet number MB8d was not allocated. MB9-10 contain Olympic Definitives.
3. The low values (1p – 20p) were initially issued with security cuts but no iridescent layer.
4. New Tariff 2013. Because De La Rue had moved their plant from Dunstable to Gateshead they were unable to print all the stamps needed for issue on 27 March 2013 so they contracted out to Walsall the printing of the valued stamps – 78p, 88p & £1.88. The Royal Mail Signed For stamps due for issue the same day were printed by De La Rue.

Because of the delays Royal Mail were unable to distribute stamps as quickly as they wished, and the first priority was to supply Post Office branches. As usual, Tallents House FDCs were produced from special multi-value coils (by DLR). Stamps at Post Offices on the day of issue were printed by Walsall. DLR printings were not available in post offices until presentation packs were available on 5 April.

Tallents House advised customers that the stamps and first day covers would not be delivered until 12 April. Single stamps sent to bureau Standing Order customers were generally DLR printings, whilst those who ordered blocks were generally Walsall. Customers who ordered both blocks and singles received both printings! Printings by De La Rue were available a few weeks after the issue date. Because De La Rue had not been able to set up the ink-jet unit on the presses the first printings had no printing date or sheet numbers. Royal Mail's stocklist shows stamps from both printers with the same date of use. (This applied to other values printed during the same period, such as the £1.28 and £2 MA13.)

A formal distribution of the DLR printing was made to standing order customers in August 2013 as a visible difference, although the only visible difference recognised by Royal Mail was the cylinder number.

In conclusion the Walsall printings were available on 27 March 2013 and DLR printings were not available until 5 April. Dual-dated first day covers with 8 stamps cancelled on the relevant dates are probably scarce!

5. The £1.10 yellow-olive and £1.65 grey-olive were reprinted on 25/01/12 with year code M12L (along with the 68p and 76p values). However the two higher values were never put on sale. Images and the story on the blog – tinyurl.com/n76vajz

6. 1st and 2nd class coils with iridescent security layer and ordinary gum (without security slits) [Norvic 2901/2, SG 3001/2] were available from Royal Mail Tallents House with the following product codes:

500 x 2 nd class – DC117	strip of 5 - DC917
1000 x 2 nd class – DC119	strip of 5 – DC919
500 x 1 st class – DC116	strip of 5 – DC916
1000 x 1 st class – DC118	strip of 5 – DC918

7. Royal Mail Product Codes for the 22/03/11 Large booklets with no printers name were originally advised to dealers as UB326 (1st) and UB327 (2nd). On the public Stocklists they were listed as UB325 & UB326 respectively. UB327 was used for the Thomas the Tank Engine mixed booklet.

8. In most years MCIL stamps appeared in a number of booklets. They are listed with the other booklets on page 19.
9. Booklet 12 x 1st, with printer's name removed.

Royal Mail's January 2010 Stocklist has these entries for booklets, in this order:

Copy Change – Printer's name removed 12 x 1 st VC	15.12.09	UB309	£4.68
Olympic & Paralympic Games No 1 6 x 1 st	07.01.10	UB306	£2.34
Copy Change – website address 6 x 1 st VC	26.01.10	UB307	£2.34
Copy Change – Printer's name removed 12 x 1 st VC	26.01.10	UB310	£4.68
Olympic & Paralympic Games No 2 6 x 1 st	25.02.10	UB308	£2.34
London 2010 Festival of Stamps 6 x 1 st + advert	30.03.10	UB311	£2.34

It is clear from this that booklets were numbered in the order that they were planned, and that the date of issue of the 12 x 1st with no printer's name came after others had been issued. But why two entries – UB309 and UB310?

In the April 2010 Stocklist, the second (UB310) was no longer listed, but that was after the booklets had already been sold. In fact UB309 was issued on 15.12.2009 and contained stamps with no year code (SG MF5a). UB310 was issued on 26.01.10 and contains stamps with year code MA10: this is SG MG5b. It seems that there was an error in allocating Royal Mail product codes: as the contents are not regarded by them as different (year codes being ignored) UB310 was redundant and they subsequently used UB309 to sell either booklet.

But that was after the differences had been identified by buyers and 26 January first day covers produced for the MA10 version. This is possibly the only booklet sold by Tallents House which has a specific date of issue but which is not distinguished by Royal Mail from the previous booklet.

10. Booklet Product Codes UB344-350, 354 and 377 were not used by Royal Mail.
11. The planned date of issue for the entire range of stamps with Security features was 17 February 2009 but not all the stamps could be printed in time. The coils were dropped from the plan, and the booklets and business sheets were given a first day of philatelic availability of 31 March. However the first Designs Classics booklet was issued on 10 March with code MCIL, and the 1st x 6 booklet was available at some retail outlets on 9 March. Both 1st and 2nd class (small) business sheets were distributed by Royal Mail Direct by 13 March, but philatelic distribution (even to dealers) was later.
12. 1st class M12L booklet of 12. The last M11L gold booklet of 12 was issued 25 October 2011 with the cover showing the FSC logo. With the Diamond Jubilee booklet to be issued on 6 February 2012 one might think that there would be no need for a further printing of the gold. It's possible that the M12L version was the conclusion of the 2011 contract, but printed in 2012 and attracting the M12L year code. Whatever the cause, the M12L booklets appeared in retail outlets 2 months after the Jubilee booklets were issued, and were not available from Royal Mail Tallents House.
13. 2011 Coils. Royal Mail inadvertently released the information that the 2nd & 1st class SA coils of 10,000 had been printed, but none has ever been found.
14. Long to Reign Over Us. Miniature sheets and counter sheets were distributed to Post Office branches in mid-August 2015. While there may have been a sale-date on/with the miniature sheet packaging there was apparently no indication with the counter sheets of the first day of sale. Inevitably at least one branch (on the grounds that their stocks of red stamps were exhausted) placed the counter sheet stamps on sale on or before 18th August. At the time of writing we have no reports of early release of the miniature sheets, nor of delivery of the booklets.
- On these stamps the Source Code coincides with the security slit to the right. It is difficult to distinguish between the sources by the code alone. However, the counter sheet stamps have the conventional white backing paper, whilst the booklet stamps have thin card backing which is purple on the reverse ('S' book) or red on the reverse (mixed content 'C' books).
- The 'C' stamps from mixed booklets always have a rouletted left or right edge. The 'S' stamps from booklets of 6 may have a rouletted left edge, but any stamps with no rouletted edge must be from 'S' booklets.

The miniature sheet Machin definitive is printed in gravure but the larger stamps are printed in intaglio ('recess' like banknotes). Although credited to International Security Printers this work was actual done by Fabrica Nacional de Moneda y Timbre in Madrid, Spain, using a Goebel press for the intaglio and Giave for the gravure. The perforating and finishing (cutting to size) was done by Cartor in France. This of course means another new printer for Machin definitives. The engraver was Chris Matthews, who has worked for Bradbury-Wilkinson, Harrisons, and De La Rue. He engraved the 1988 Castle high values and the Stamp World 90 Penny Black miniature sheet.

15. Some business sheet stamps exist with and without gaps in the U-shaped security cuts. I've only listed the versions that we had in stock as reliable information was not always available, and the size of some gaps varied so much as to be almost invisible unless the stamp was held up to a strong light. I'll be happy to add details if provided with clear images. Printing dates from headers would also be useful.

16. SBP. In June 2014 Britain's Stamp Magazine reported that "Self-adhesive stamps are to be printed with a security inscription on the entire backing paper from next year to deter forgers. This will include special stamps as well as definitives in counter sheets, booklets, business sheets and coils."

In fact the new paper was not used until the autumn of 2015, the stamps first appearing in early 2016. First was the 2nd class business sheet, followed by several booklets, all printed by Walsall. At the time of writing no counter sheets by De La Rue have been reported with what we are referring to as Security Backing Paper (or SBP). Entries in the checklist are only marked 'SBP' to distinguish them from those without where both types exist. All 2016 booklets and business sheets have security backing paper. Counter sheets with SBP will be so marked when they appear in 2016.

Stamp printing expert Glenn Morgan, countering suggestions that this was just a move to get more money from collectors wrote:

"This feature is not there for Joe Public to spot, but it is an essential part of security when bringing a case to court by the Royal Mail investigators .... [Eventually] all Machin stamps [will] have the new SBP [and] it will give the juror the ability to know "beyond all reasonable doubt" that any dubious stamps that form part of the case have to be forgeries, as they will not bear correctly printed features. A conviction will follow."

16a. SBP2. In May 2016 Royal Mail said that there was a delay in producing counter sheet stamps with Security Backing Paper because of the need for printing between the paper and the glossy substrate. At the same time, and apparently unconnected, Royal Mail also announced that, so that the paper may be used in any direction (especially useful if there are part-reels to be used) the security printing will be changed so that alternate pairs of lines of text will be inverted. The first appearance of stamps on the new backing paper was the 2nd class business sheet printed on 14/12/2016 (with M16L year code). Around the same time Stamp Magazine reported that the 1st class counter sheet (apparently in deep scarlet) not only had security printing but it was the new type. This was a printing reported to be 09/12/2016, again with year code M16L. In the listings we are referring to this new type as SBP2.

17. Stanley Gibbons Concise catalogue has sub-numbers for booklets with the Printer's imprint removed, and for the addition of the FSC logo, but not for the change of telephone numbers from 0845 to 0345. This change is noted in footnotes only. New whole numbers were allocated when security printing was added to the backing paper inside the booklets.
